Benfleet Boy can spring surprise in

Rob Wright

Benfleet Boy, a fair performer on the Flat who has taken well to the winter game, can spring a surprise against some highly-rated rivals in the Blue Square Toworth Hurdle (2.40) at Sandown Park today.

Lightly raced for a five-year-old — he has had just ten starts on the Flat — he is unexposed given a test of stamina, running a cracker on his only attempt at a mile-and-a-half when finding only Blazing Bailey, to whom he was conceding 8lb, too good at Newbury in October.

After a promising jumps debut when sixth in a competitive novice hurdle at Newbury, Benfleet Boy routed his rivals at Doncaster last time when making all the running, jumping like an old hand. This track should again play to his strengths and, at 25-1 with Ladbrokes, he is worth a bet.

The main threat comes from Dee Ee Williams, who deserved extra credit when touched off by Medermit at Ascot last time having raced too keenly for his own good through the early stages.

Nick Gifford, who trains Dee Ee Williams, can enjoy better fortune with Killaghy Castle in the Blue Square Mobile Handicap Chase (3.15). He has a lengthy absence to overcome, but has an excellent record when fresh and is unbeaten in two previous starts here. Well weighted on the pick of his form, he can make a winning return.

Hernando Royal can gain a deserved success in the Blue Square Poker Handicap Hurdle (3.50). Best when held up for a late run, he was again unsuited by the slow early pace when fourth over course and distance last time and, provided this is a true test, can make the most of a fair mark.

Briery Fox ran better than the result suggests when seventh at Newbury last time — he was travelling strongly when stopped in his tracks by a mistake five out — and should go close in the Blue Square SP Guarantee Handicap Chase (2.10), but the best
